THE SOUTH AFRICAN CAMPAIGN.

Why the Leaders are being Shot.

PRETORIA, Sopt. 12. Another instance of the manner in which the Boor Leaders mislead the rank and file of the Burghers is afforded by an intercepted Despatch from Com mandant Liebenberg to Commandant Delarcy, informing the latter of the departure of the British mobile Columns from the neighbourhood, which, he adds, supports reports received of a defeat of the English with great slaughter on the other side of Pretoria, and the capture of the entire British camp with cannon. Boer Commandos, he continues, 'ara causing great destruction and desolation in Natal, where they are, in fact, playing the English game, the Swazis and Busutos have risen against the English on account of the seizure of their cattle, England and France have come to blows, and the latter is blockading the Channel. Some correspondence has ensued between the Merchant Service Guild and A the Board of Trade upon the judgment of the Court of Inquiry at Oamagu, TERMS MODERATE. It appeared that the certificate of the captain was suspended for three months, and he was required to pay 15 guineas towards the costs of the proceedings. The guild appealed to the Board of Trade to cancel the deci- CHADWICK KEW, sion, and pointed out that the report was not issued in this country until three months after it was given. The master of the Ariadne was the only certificated person on board, and the guild in the course of their representation stated: - 'This case is one of many others which illustrate the necessity of British ships being required to carry a sufficient number of qualified officers. The mate of the Ariadne joined as A.B., had "no knowledge of navigation," and "could not even understand a chart"; the boatswain, "an intelligent A.B., acted as officer and had charge of a watch," The former is described as "not very intelligent," and in the navigation of the vessel "made things worse" by giving the boatswain, who relieved him, a depth of water of 25 fathoms instead of 15 fathoms, which made a very great difference in the safety or otherwise of the vessel. The Board of Trade, replying to the guild, state their inability to interfere with the decision of the Court, but have called the attention of the Marine Department, New Zealand, to the delay which apparently occurred in forwarding the report to this country. The guild are also drawing the attention of the Board to the apparently unnecessary delay in issuing the report of the inquiry into the loss of the ship Highland Forest,

> NO USE FOR CONNING TOWERS.

A majority of the U.S. Naval Board on Construction favors the total abolition of the TO-NIGHT! TO-NIGHT!! conning tower on naval vessels. Many discussions of the subject have been had recently, and the opinion is practically TIHE WORLD'S GREATEST WONunanimous that they could be dispensed with to the increased efficiency of the naval fighting machines. The reasons for this great change are three in number. They are: 1. It will reduce the total weight of the ship materially. 2. It will give more space for the armament. 3. It will tend toward increasing the rapidity of the supply

Under such conditions some one is sure to THE FUNNIEST SHOW ON EARTH get killed, and the selection is likely to depend largely on chance. The old idea, the original one in fact, in ironelads, was to protect every one and each part of the ship as much as possible. That has been modified with the growth of the Navy, and through the experience gained. The battles of Manile and Santiago demonstrated | Hongkong, 17th October, 1901. that a position within the conning tower limited the commander's radius of observation and really abridged his command, After a few minutes of firing, the smoke of the guns shrouded the decks and shut off from the commander's vision both the or to the fighting tops, and the tower was thereafter useless. Structural objections to the tower are MRS. MUDIE, and MESSRS. C. H that it shuts off light and ventilation. An added argument for its abandonment is that the tower requires to be equipped with a system of communication, electric bells, speaking tubes and the like, all of which are complicated, expensive and easily to be thrown out of order. To do away with the tower is to reduce one item of cost and maintenance by one-third. It is probable that the whole matter will assume tangible form before the next session of Congress. when some suggestion or recommendation may be made for the future construction of vessels of the Navy.
